ORDER

25
26 On October 14, 2009, the parties lodged a proposed form of final judgment (doc. 153).
27 Shortly thereafter, Pickens Kane filed a motion for attorney's fees pursuant to LRCiv 54.2
28 (doc. 154), along with a motion to stay entry of judgment (doc. 155), asking us to delay entry

1 of judgment until we rule on its motion for attorney's fees. Pickens Kane contends that once
2 judgment is entered it will be unable to protect itself from execution of the judgment except
3 by filing its notice of appeal and obtaining a stay by supersedeas bond under Rule 62(d), Fed.
4 R. Civ. P. In doing so, Pickens Kane complains that it will forego its opportunity to extend
5 the time to file an appeal under Rule 58(e), Fed. R. Civ. P., and avoid piecemeal appellate 6 litigation. Pacific Indemnity objects to the motion to stay entry of judgment (doc. 156).

7 In the meantime, and notwithstanding that Pickens Kane has not yet filed its 8 memorandum in support of its motion for attorney's fees, see LRCiv 54.2(b)(2), Atlas has 9 objected to fees (doc. 157) and Pickens Kane has replied (doc. 158).

10 Pickens Kane is correct that although Rule 58(e) provides an extension of the time to 11 file a notice of appeal, it does not delay the execution of judgment. Moreover, a stay of 12 execution of judgment is available by supersedeas bond only "upon or after filing the notice
13 of appeal or after obtaining the order allowing the appeal." Fed. R. Civ. P. 62(d). Therefore,
14 it appears that the rules do not permit a party to both extend the time to file an appeal and 15 stay execution of judgment. This glitch in the rules will not interfere with Pacific
16 Indemnity's right to seek consolidation of the separate appeals in the court of appeals.

17 Notwithstanding Pickens Kane's efforts to avoid two separate appeals, we are required
18 to enter final judgment promptly. Id. at 58(b)(2). Entry of judgment cannot be delayed in 19 order to tax costs or award fees. Id. at 58(e).

20 Therefore, IT IS ORDERED DENYING Pickens Kane's motion to stay entry of 21 judgment (doc. 155). Judgment will be entered concurrent with this order.

22 The parties are advised that the briefing related to Pickens Kane's motion for 23 attorney's fees and costs is not in compliance with LRCiv 54.2. We will rule on the motion
24 for fees and costs once the parties have fully complied with the local rule.

25 DATED this 24th day of November, 2009.
